

ABSTRACT

A method includes determining whether a key is traceable to one of a set of keys associated with a trusted source and determining whether the key is identified in a list of compromised keys. If the key is not identified as compromised and is traceable to one of the keys in the set, the key is assigned a trusted status.

CONFIDENTIAL